

Submit a Climate Justice Fellowship Application

The PON 4772: Climate Justice Fellowship Program provides funding for year-long, full-time fellowships for individuals that are from a priority population. NYSERDA will provide funding for salaries and professional development so that fellows may have the opportunity to work within businesses and organizations that advance climate justice and clean energy priorities for disadvantaged communities.

Participating employers must submit a Fellowship Application for each individual they would like to hire as a fellow through the program. Funding will only be awarded for fellowships approved by NYSERDA.

Pre-requisites: Before proceeding with the below steps to submit a Fellowship Application, an employer must first have their Business Application to participate in the Climate Justice Fellowship Program approved. Approval to be a participating employer is not approval for funding for individual fellowships. If you are not yet enrolled in the program, apply to be a participating employer here.

Note: Fellowship applications must be submitted to NYSERDA via email before the start of the fellowship to be eligible for funding.

Choosing Fellows

For the Climate Justice Fellowship Program, employers can select their fellows from their own recruitment networks or refer to a list of fellow candidates who have submitted their information to NYSERDA.

Review the fellow eligibility requirements in the Program Summary, including the requirements regarding Priority Population status. NYSERDA is not validating priority population status for candidates who apply to the fellow candidate directory. Employers are required to verify candidates' eligibility prior to submitting a fellowship application to NYSERDA.

If you identify a candidate who is not in the NYSERDA directory of fellow candidates, they must apply to the program as a fellow candidate.

Within the NYSERDA Portal, employers can access a list of fellow candidates who are interested in the fellowship program. The instructions below review how to access the Fellow Candidate list.
